A close-up photograph of a book cover. The cover is divided into two main color sections: a cream-colored upper section and a dark red lower section. Gold lettering is printed on the cream section. The text is in a decorative, calligraphic font. The visible text includes the words "de' sette sterpi" on the top line and "oco un iascio." on the bottom line. The letters are raised and have a metallic sheen. In the top right corner, there are some green and blue decorative elements, possibly representing leaves or a floral design.
